

'Ab Ovo is a reliable and honest partner'

Achmea Zorg: sharing experience and knowledge

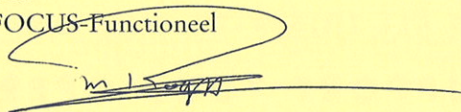

As from 2001, Ab Ovo has been supporting Achmea Zorg. From the beginning they have been involved in our FOCUS project, which consists of the decomposition of financial subsystems, formerly situated in the major mainframe systems at Achmea Zorg. The financial modules are being separated and then combined within the CODA system for the handling of financial services. On top of the technical system changes, this project also deals with organizational changes and changes in process responsibilities.

The Ab Ovo consultants are truly involved in all functional aspects of this project. They are, for instance, involved in the set up of the CODA system and the set up of Crescendo, a subsystem handling the communication with several banks. In addition to these information analysis activities, Ab Ovo has taken care of creating manuals, functional designs and user documentation in a very professional manner. Furthermore they have performed a coordinating role in the system testing as part of the system chain integration testing. On functional aspects they are the experts, but also on technical issues they do know their way around. True professionals on all issues and levels and therefore valuable project members!

Our experience with the Ab Ovo consultants is that they are very committed to the Achmea organization. They emphasize the necessity of sharing their experience and knowledge with the Achmea community as soon as possible. This is what I call true involvement. Ab Ovo is a reliable and honest partner. Deadlines are being met, important documents are delivered with the utmost accuracy, and advice is practical. In a nutshell: I can rely on them!

Ab Ovo's motto 'We support your operations' is proven on all fronts. This will surely lead to further cooperation in other projects.

Our name, Ab Ovo, means 'From the beginning' and finds its roots in the ancient Latin phrase 'Ab ovo usque ad mala', 'from beginning to end'.

The name reflects our philosophy that Ab Ovo wants to be involved from start to finish in the realization of total solutions, together with our customers. Where our focus is in the deployment of ICT solutions that allow our customers to achieve their goals, our objective is also to work on a partnership with our customers, based on respect, mutual advantage and professionalism, from the very start.

Ab Ovo offers her customers a broad range of ICT-related products and services, such as consultancy, project management, interim management, sourcing and best-of-breed software solutions.

The key success factor of Ab Ovo is the combination of in-depth business knowledge and profound management experience in ICT-related issues.
