Dutch Ministry of the Interior and Kingdom Relations (BZK): Success through a No-Nonsense approach

As from the start of the project in 2001, Ab Ovo has been involved in the development and implementation of the Digidoc project at BZK. Ab Ovo's significant experience in both the business aspects and the technical implementation, contributed to a successful implementation in 2004. The Digidoc project is an Electronic Document Management (EDM) System, based on the product 'Work Expeditor' and the standard Microsoft® Office Suite and development environment.

With Digidoc, the 3000 civil servants of BZK are able to optimize the primary processes for both the development and the support of policies and legislation through:

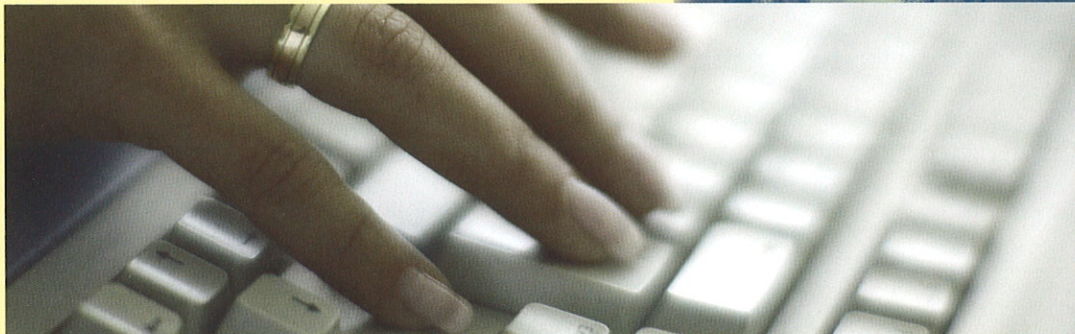

- Improved access to documents, files and dossiers from any workplace;
- Reduced time to complete and rotate dossiers and files;
- Transparency in processes;
- Centralised and automated archiving for both paper and digital documents.

Ab Ovo is a key player in the Digidoc project team. The people of Ab Ovo contributed in designing and developing the desired functionalities, interacting with user groups, educating the end-users, setting up the initial pilot system, and developing a new ICT infrastructure for BZK.

By means of several pilot environments, the system was thoroughly tested and further fine-tuned. As of 2004 the system has been implemented throughout BZK.

“A number of companies and agencies have started EDM/WFM projects. Only a few have been successfully implemented. The people of Ab Ovo significantly contributed to the success of Digidoc through a no-nonsense approach. We will continue to use that expertise and experience whenever needed”.

Dutch Ministry of the Interior and Kingdom Relations (BZK) is one of the thirteen ministries of Dutch central government. The two ministers and almost 3,000 civil servants formulate policy, prepare legislation and regulations, and are also responsible for coordination, supervision and policy implementation.

Our name, Ab Ovo, means 'From the beginning' and finds its roots in the ancient Latin phrase 'Ab ovo usque ad mala', 'from beginning to end'.

The name reflects our philosophy that Ab Ovo wants to be involved from start to finish in the realization of total solutions, together with our customers. Where our focus is in the deployment of ICT solutions that allow our customers to achieve their goals, our objective is also to work on a partnership with our customers, based on respect, mutual advantage and professionalism, from the very start.

Ab Ovo offers her customers a broad range of ICT-related products and services, such as consultancy, project management, interim management, sourcing and best-of-breed software solutions.

The key success factor of Ab Ovo is the combination of in-depth business knowledge and profound management experience in ICT-related issues.
